

Pop of Color at the EMMYS

A look at the best-dressed outfits from the EMMYS 2020 with two recurring themes that were black and a pop of color. Who wore it best?

The EMMYS, held on September 21, was the first of its kind. With a virtual award show held at the Staples Center in Los Angeles, many celebrities celebrated in the comforts of their homes. This gave us anticipation to see what the stars of television wore for their virtual red carpet.

Celebrities like Jennifer Aniston and Reese Witherspoon served us modern chic looks with simple, all-black dresses. The simplicity of their dresses gave off a more professional and relaxed way to celebrate the beautiful night.

But some celebrities took a turn and expressed their gratitude and emotion with vibrant colors in their outfits. Celebrities like Zendaya and H.E.R. wore designer outfits that lit up the room.

Zendaya started the night in a Christopher John Roger dress that had purple and black hues. She accompanied this dress with Christian Louboutin shoes and Bulgari jewelry. H.E.R. wore a beautiful custom dress by Vera Wang. The dress was a fuchsia silk dress and pants duo with neon orange piping and was paired with Giuseppe Zanotti shoes.

Both celebrities looked stunning in their dresses, but in my eyes, H.E.R. stole the show with this beautiful dress. The neon orange piping gave it a brighter aesthetic to the overall look. Who do you think wore it best?
